DAMAGED BY FIRE

Sturdevant Store on the North Side

GOOD WORK OF THE FIREMEN

Kept Blaze from Spreading—Loss About $5,000—Story of Wednesday Night Fire.

About 7 o'clock Wednesday evening a fire broke out on the North Side of the Square, which for a time threatened to result in a disastrous conflagration, and it was only owing to the heroic and determined efforts of Chief Bausch and the firemen that this consequence was averted.

The fire started, from all appearances in the sleeping apartment of Lester W. Sturdevant, which is located in the rear of Dr. A. V. Davis' front office, above the Sturdevant jewelry store. The origin is a mystery, several theories being advanced, one being a break in the electric wiring. When the firemen arrived on the scene the flames were mounting high in this room, a skylight above a folding bed acting as a flue. A stream was taken up on the roof from the rear, while the chemical hose was taken up the stairway and played upon the fire direct.

Between the room in which the fire started, and the apartments of Frank Mabry, had been a door, which was covered with linoleum, over which wall paper was hung. In a short time this flimsy partition was burned away and the flames found their way into the Mabry apartments. After fierce fighting here they were confined to the bed room, which was practically ruined. A diamond ring belonging to Mrs. Mabry had been left by her on a dresser, and was lost. A gold watch was also in this room, under a mattress but Mrs. Mabry recovered this.

Policemen Ziegler and Carroll alternated at the head of the stairway and kept every one out of the apartment who did not have business there. The fire burned through a door into Dr. Davis' chemical laboratory, and considerable loss was occasioned here. The water that was thrown caused considerable damage to the store room and stock of L. W. Sturdevant, while the Newark Liquor company was damaged to the extent of $25.

The fire department cannot be too highly praised for their grand work in preventing the spread of the fire. Companies 1, 2 and 4 responded to the alarm, and under Chief Bausch they did fine work. A prominent insurance man who was present after the fire had practically been put out, was looking over the scene, and realized the possibilities of a conflagration. He was unstinted in his praise of the department's work, and the same is true of every person who saw the fire.

The following losses were given the Advocate by those who suffered, with the insurance:

Mr. Sturdevant's stock, fixtures and furniture were insured at $5,700; loss about $3,700.

Mrs. Frank Mabry lost $800, which is fully covered by an insurance policy of $1,000.

Dr. Davis and Mrs. Mabry had peculiar experiences with insurance policies and both are now happy that they had such experiences.

Dr. Davis' policy had expired last September. He had done some dental work for M. J. Rees and while doing this work the question of insurance came up.

Rees said: "Doc, let me write you a policy for payment for this work." The doctor replied that his policy had expired, and said to him: "Well, go ahead."

Nothing further was thought of the matter but on Thursday it was found that Mr. Rees had taken the doctor at his word, and the $1,000 policy will be paid. Doctor Davis did not know until Thursday that he had any insurance.

Mrs. Mabry's policy had expired and agent Cary Norris kept it in force. Just recently Mrs. Mabry went to the office and paid the premium, at the same time upbraiding Mr. Norris for not consulting her in the matter. Mrs. Mabry is very thankful that she has the policy.

Dr. A. V. Davis at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon estimated his loss at $2,000, his insurance being half that amount.

E. C. Norris and Geo. Franklin Jr., had insurance on the burned property.

MISS NAN PATTERSON

Is Hysterical in Prison and Her Father is Afraid That the Actress is Going Insane.

New York, Dec. 29.—Nan Patterson's father visited his daughter in the Tombs. He said after leaving there that he feared she was going insane. A physician was called, who, after examining her, said: "Miss Patterson is in a highly nervous and even a hysterical condition, but in my judgment there need be no fear of insanity from present indications."

Congressional Contest.
Baltimore, Md., Dec. 29.—Congressman William H. Jackson (Rep.) served formal notice upon Thomas A. Smith (Dem.) that he would contest the seat in the Fifty-ninth congress for the First district of Maryland. Jackson denies that Smith was legally elected, alleging that trick ballots were used.

Consul's Corpse Sent Home.
Naples, Dec. 29.—The remains of Daniel L. McNally, late United States consul at Athens, Greece, were sent to New York on board the steamer Republic. The son of the deceased is accompanying the body.

German Ship Ashore.
London, Dec. 29.—Advices from Punta Arenas say the German steamer Abdos, from San Francisco via Callao for Hamburg, is ashore near there, in a precarious condition.

Japs Mount Siege Guns.
Chefoo, Dec. 29.—It is reported that the Japanese in front of Port Arthur have mounted two 28-centimeter guns on 203-meter hill.

NOT ONE DIVORCE SUIT.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—For the first time in years not a suit for divorce was begun in Chicago Tuesday. Often as high as 40 such actions are brought in a day.

CHOATE RESIGNATION

As Ambassador to England Has Not Yet Been Filed—Will Be Sent Later On.

London, Dec. 29.—While numerous semi-official statements published here say Ambassador Choate is about to retire from diplomatic life, it can be stated that Mr. Choate has not sent his resignation or any communication on the subject to President Roosevelt or the state department; nor has he received any inquiry either from the president or Secretary Hay concerning his future plans. It can be asserted, however, that it is Mr. Choate's intention to tender his resignation soon after the inauguration of President Roosevelt. "Six years is a long slice out of the life of a man of my age," said Mr. Choate recently to friends here, "and while I have enjoyed the life and the people I have met in England, I have determined to go home and devote the remainder of my time to looking after my own affairs."

RIHLUNG HILL

Seized by Japanese Forces—Discontent in Russia—War News.

Tokyo, Dec. 29.—Advices from the Manchurian army state that yesterday afternoon the Russians, with heavy field guns, bombarded the Japanese along the Shabke river and that Russian guns at Talietun shelled Chippington and Shuliezu. The Russian cavalry attacked Heilontun but were repulsed.

London, Dec. 29.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister to Great Britain, received a telegram from Tokyo today announcing that the Port Arthur besieging army captured on Wednesday night, Fort Erlungshan. The capture of the fort is regarded in naval and military circles here as of the highest importance and will materially hasten the fall of the fortress.

The report, received by Baron Hayashi is as follows: "The Port Arthur besieging army reports having left the center army at 10 a. m. Wednesday. They blow up the parapet in front of Erlungshan, then occupying the parapet by assault. They constructed defensive works under cover of heavy guns and field guns, despite the fire of the enemy. After the placing in position of heavy guns, the army proceeded to the gorge of the fort, whence the enemy was eventually dislodged after a stout resistance. The whole fort fell into our hands at 7:30 in the evening."

The Japanese casualties are estimated at 10,000 killed and wounded.

Tokyo, Dec. 29.—The Japanese have occupied the entire fort on Rihlung mountain.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 29.—It is evident from the reports received from the interior that the fairly good impression produced by the imperial manifesto on the subject of reforms may be more than offset in many places by the effect of the government note of warning to the zemstvos. Reports from Moscow especially indicate that much excitement prevails there, and the gravest fears are expressed that the ancient capital of Russia may be the scene of bloody excesses. A banquet arranged to celebrate the anniversary of the Tronbitski revolution was stopped by order of the police, and the Moscow zemstvo adjourned sine die as a protest against the government note and the return of Grand Duke Sergius as governor general of Moscow. The grand duke is held responsible for the note. The big strike at the Baku oil fields, coming at this time, is another cause for anxiety, as possibly forming a rallying cry for workmen's organizations.

Russian Police Officer Shot.
Shusha, Russia, Dec. 29.—Police Chief Sakharoff was killed on the main street here.

WING'S SUCCESSOR

Mr. Foraker Has a Talk With the President, but Says No Decision is Made.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Since the resignation of Judge Francis J. Wing of Cleveland, O., several candidates for the vacancy have developed. Senator Foraker had a talk with the president about the appointment. He said no decision has been reached. He declined to say whether or not he had made a recommendation for the office to the president. Senator Foraker indicated that the appointment might be decided upon in a few days, but would give no further information concerning it.

Chicago Suburban Service.

The road will become a four-track system for that length. Service will be made as complete as that now furnished between Chicago and Homewood, 33 miles.

TO FURNISH BAIL

Syndicate Seeks Release of Mrs. Chadwick.

PRESIDENT BECKWITH IS ILL

And a Message From Oberlin Announces That His Condition is Now Critical.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 29.—A syndicate, for which Attorney P. D. Quigley of this city is spokesman, is said to be ready and willing to furnish bail up to the sum of $40,000 to procure the release of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, held in jail here awaiting trial on the charge of forgery. Attorney Quigley would not give the names of the prospective bondsmen of Mrs. Chadwick, but says that they are well able to furnish any reasonable sum of money required if Mrs. Chadwick is permitted to go out on bail. The federal officials are said to be not in favor of giving Mrs. Chadwick her freedom, and will, it is understood, discourage such a proceeding, without, however, infringing upon the prisoner's constitutional rights.

A dispatch from Oberlin states that C. T. Beckwith, the aged president of the defunct Citizens' National bank of Oberlin, O., lies ill at his home. It is said his condition is critical.

Sheriff Barry, who is in New York, has procured a warrant from Governor Odell for the extradition of Doctor Chadwick.

WILL NOT BE HEARD

COMPLICATION DEVELOPS IN THE IRVING-TALBOT CASE.

Court of Inquiry Held Illegal—Recent Change in the Canons of the Church.

Philadelphia, Dec. 29.—There will be no hearing of the charges against Bishop Ethelbert Talbot of the diocese of central Pennsylvania by the court recently appointed by Bishop Tuttle. This is the statement made by churchmen who are well posted in the canonical laws of the Episcopal church. A complication has developed which, they say, will put a stop effectually to the proceedings of the court of inquiry as now constituted. The trouble comes from a recent change in the canons of the church regarding the appointment of a court of that nature.

The first intimation of the trouble comes in the shape of an editorial in the Church Standard, the oldest organ of the church in this country. In the latest issue of the Standard Rev. Dr. John Fulton, the editor, says in reference to the Irving-Talbot case, that the presiding bishop has constituted the board of inquiry under a canon which was superseded by a new canon of the late general convention. The new canon will come into operation on Jan. 1, 1905. The board of inquiry is called to meet on Jan. 10, and when it does meet on that date it will not be constituted as the new canon requires. It will, therefore, have no power to proceed with the inquiry for which it was called.

The trouble between the bishop of central Pennsylvania and Rev. Ingraham N. W. Irvine arose from the excommunication of Mrs. Elliott, a member of the church at Huntington of which Mr. Irvine was rector. Bishop Talbot had often been entertained at the Elliott house. Mr. Irvine, learning that Mrs. Elliott had obtained a divorce and had married Mr. Elliott, who had also obtained a divorce, presented the facts but not the names to the bishop, who is said to have advised the clergyman to suspend the woman mentioned hypothetically in the case. On learning of the identity of the person the bishop is alleged to have disapproved the action of the rector and to have ordered the reinstatement of Mrs. Elliott. Charges were made against the rector, and he was declared by the bishop to be no longer a priest.

Three Burn to Death.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 29.—The McMillan farm house in Livingston county was burned this morning. Three members of the McMillan family were burned to death. The dead: Frank McMillan, aged 76; Miss Lottie McMillan, aged 68; Chas. McMillan, nephew of Frank McMillan, aged 49.

One sister, Miss Luna McMillan, 65 years of age, and a servant, Mary Borman, escaped in their night clothes, and are suffering from shock and exposure. Frank McMillan who was the head of the family is estimated to have been worth $300,000 or $400,000.

MURDER CHARGE

Has Been Preferred Against New York Policeman Frank McLaughlin by Jerome.

New York, Dec. 29.—Committed to jail on a charge of murder in the first degree, without bail, was the surprise which greeted Frank McLaughlin, a patrolman, when he appeared in criminal court to plead to an indictment charging him with assault upon James P. Robbins, a newspaper reporter. The new charge was based upon an indictment which District Attorney Jerome said would be returned by the grand jury during the day. McLaughlin was once before arrested in connection with the killing of John W. Patterson, a watchman. The coroner's jury found that he shot Patterson in self-defense, and he was discharged. The district attorney was not satisfied with that disposition of the case, however, and began an investigation which, he says, has resulted in an indictment charging murder in the first degree.

TOOK POISON

Boston Young Men Agreed to Commit Suicide at the Same Time.

New York, Dec. 29.—A suicide compact was revealed by the death of a young man here. Orestis A. Weed, said to be interested in the manufacture of gas meters at Boston, died at a hospital here of morphine poisoning. Weed and a companion named Benjamin J. Reilly of Hartford, Conn., were taken to the hospital from the Grand Union hotel. Both were suffering from the effects of the drug. Weed died without recovering consciousness. Reilly was soon revived. He was taken to the prison ward of the hospital as a suspicious person. Dispatches from Boston and Providence show that Weed was highly connected and was reputed to be wealthy.

In a statement to the coroner Reilly is quoted as saying that he and Weed had entered into a suicide plot, and that they came from Boston to this city Sunday with the intention of committing suicide together in the hotel. According to the coroner Reilly stated that he was sorry he attempted to die, and expressed much regret when he learned that Weed was dead.

SURPLUS COTTON

Southern Farmers Are Burning Millions of Bales for the "Benefit of the Masses."

Port Gaines, Ga., Dec. 29.—The farmers and merchants of Clay county met at Port Gaines and decided to burn their share of 2,000,000 bales of surplus cotton. A starter was made when a bonfire was made of cotton on the streets of Port Gaines. It is not yet determined where it will stop. The farmers have decided to set the pace and are moving determinedly. A large crowd paraded with much spectacular ceremony. The object is to show that farmers are ready to sacrifice a few bales for the benefit of the masses. The fire is still burning and the excitement is increasing.

Woman Found Dead.

New York, Dec. 29.—A young woman bearing many evidences of prosperity was found dead at the foot of an airshaft in a tenement house in Delancey street. The police are undecided whether her death was the result of a crime or accident. She lay with her head bent under her body and her neck is thought to have been broken. She was about 30 years of age and well dressed. She wore a plain gold wedding ring marked "L. E. to C. C., April 19, 1900."

Beef For Russian Garrison.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 29.—It is understood that 2,000 tons of salt beef will comprise a part of the cargo of the steamship Tacoma, loading here. The vessel is operated by the Northwest Commercial company, which holds concessions from the Russian government, and it is surmised that the beef is for Russian soldiers at Vladivostok. Though it was publicly stated the Tacoma is bound for Shanghai, in steamship circles it is said the Tacoma will proceed either to Vladivostok or will try to run the blockade at Port Arthur.

Bankruptcy Case Rejected.

St. Louis, Dec. 29.—A bankruptcy petition directed against the Merchants' Brokerage and Commission company of St. Louis was thrown out of court by United States District Judge Adams. The court refused to permit the case to go to trial because plaintiffs could not identify the books they presented as the books of the concern they sought to bring into bankruptcy. The plaintiffs were Stephen Lee of Mechanicsville, N. Y.; Louis Schraeder of Wheeling, W. Va.; and H. B. Bray of Crawfordsville, Ind., who allege that $50,000 of the concern's money was diverted to the use of officers in other than company business.

Conferred With Odell.
New York, Dec. 29.—Governor Odell, former Governor Frank S. Black, Louis F. Payne and many other prominent New York Republicans were in conference here, but no results of the conferences which throw any light upon the senatorial situation were made public. It was expected Governor Odell would make some announcement as to whether he will appoint Black to succeed Chauncey M. Depew in the senate, but Governor Odell did not say anything for publication.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Quartermaster General Humphrey received a telegram from the superintendent of construction at Chattanooga saying Captain Howard W. The accounts of Captain French are said to be in first-class shape. General Humphrey speaks of him in the highest terms.

DEPUTY SHERIFF

Read Injunction Through a Keyhole.

BUT CANVASSERS IGNORED IT

Petition Filed in Supreme Court on Behalf of Alva Adams—Colorado Election.

Denver, Colo., Dec. 29.—The supreme court announced its decision not to grant the application of Michael Deshoar (Dem.), candidate for state senator in Las Animas county, for leave to file an application for a writ of mandamus to compel the state board of canvassers to canvass returns showing his election and issue a certificate to him. This decision applies to the contest from Boulder county, where Senator Charles B. Ward (Dem.) was re-elected on the face of the returns and the Republican attorney asked the board to issue the certificate to the Republican candidate. The court decided that it had no jurisdiction over the board. Immediately after the decision was given the board proceeded with the canvass behind closed doors. The precaution of locking the doors was taken to prevent the service of a writ of injunction issued by District Judge Carpenter restraining the board from issuing certificates of election to the Republican contestants, Casimiro Barela and H. L. Millard. The deputy sheriff bearing the injunction read it through the keyhole. The board nevertheless granted a certificate to Barela and Millard. When the doors were opened the writs were served on the members. A petition was filed in supreme court on behalf of Alva Adams, the Democratic governor-elect, asking that either the court or a commission be appointed by the court shall open all of the 204 ballot boxes used in Denver at the late election and make a thorough examination of their contents.

"I have no question whatever about my election by substantially the majority reported on the face of the returns," said Mr. Adams. "I want this investigation made; I want it to extend from the head to the foot, and I want the truth known."

Undesirable Immigrants.

New York, Dec. 29.—Fifteen members of the "Community of Kingdom" who arrived here from Scotland last Saturday on their way to join the "Holy Ghost and Us" society at Shiloh, Ill., will be deported by the immigration officials. Only $46 was found on them when they were examined by the Ellis Island authorities, and as they had no definite plans for their support beyond joining the colony at Shiloh, they were denied admittance on the ground that they were undesirable immigrants.

Salt Company Dissolved.

St. Louis, Dec. 29.—Episcopal Bishop Tuttle, presiding prelate of the House of Bishops of the church, does not apprehend serious trouble in regard to the differences that may exist in the old and recently enacted canons of the church, which regulate the form of procedure in the case of Bishop Talbot of Pennsylvania. A point had been raised that the board of inquiry which Tuttle appointed to hear the Talbot charges was named under the canons which will be superseded by the new ones before the court convenes.

NOBODY KNOWS

Where Dr. Harrington Has Gone, It is Said—He Has Left a Few Unpaid Bills.

Coshocton, Dec. 29.—Dr. Monfort, of Steubenville, in whose employ was Dr. Charles Harrington, the former Newark young man, at the Painless Dentist Parlors, is expected to arrive in the city in a day or two and reopen the offices in the Burns building. William Burrs wrote him regarding the entanglements into which his local representatives had fallen, and in reply he received a telephone message which looks as though Dr. Monfort had also been bitten by the gentleman in question, who departed Tuesday morning. He stated to Mr. Burrs that he had taken Harrington at his word that he was an experienced dentist and never had a doubt that he was not duly qualified before the state board. He asked Mr. Burrs to look up the rooms and said that he would be here in a day or two, with a good man to look after the Coshocton work, who would be qualified in every way and that the offices would then be reopened in more complete form than ever.

Dr. Harrington had been absent for many days by the many who may now be assembled under the caption of creditors.

Dr. Harrington was to have been given a hearing on Tuesday, but he was out without bond and failed to appear. Where he has gone is not known. The young man was accused of practicing dentistry without a license.

Russia's Liberal Bodyguard.

The zemstvo of Russia is a historic institution, and collectively the zemstvos, since they exist in every district, may be considered the very citadel of Muscovite patriotism. They have in part the characteristics of the New England town meeting and the county boards or councils of all the states. No one has ever questioned the purity of motive of their members, who are elected by the people and serve without pay, or their devotion to the czar and the empire. As to the duties or prerogatives of the zemstvos there are two opinions. The advocates and ministers of the czar who hold the views of the late M. de Plehve would have them attend to purely local affairs and in that sphere be as public spirited as they choose. On the other hand, M. de Witte always sought their co-operation in carrying out administrative reforms and urged them to speak their minds freely upon the condition of the peasantry.

The first contact of the Czar Nicholas II. with the zemstvos was soon after his inauguration, when he received the homage of his subjects. Representatives from all the zemstvos of all the Russias gathered in a spacious hall and presented addresses, one after another, in terms of laudation of the new ruler. One zemstvo—only one—took the opportunity to hark back to the days of Alexander II. and expressed the modest hope that the grandson of that liberal monarch would not restrict his confidence wholly to the bureaucracy, but would let the voice of his people be heard through their chosen representatives, the zemstvos. At this suggestion the young autocrat turned wrathfully upon the whole assemblage and, stamping his foot, declared that they must forever renounce such chimerical notions, for he would have none of them during his reign.

In so far as lies in their power the zemstvos have stood between the common people and the oppressive agents of the central government. During the present reign they have attempted to exercise the punishing power in local offenses, but this has been sternly overruled. One of the czar's advisers declared: "Questions of the zemstvo have no more to do with law courts than questions of family life. If a father may chastise his son severely without invoking the help of the courts, the authorities, local, provisional and central, should be invested with similar power to imprison, flog and otherwise overawe or punish the people."

In other words, every provisional governor and every petty peasant prefect should exercise the irresponsible and whimsical power of an autocrat without recourse to or regard for law. The Liberals of Russia are not banded against monarchical institutions, since these are necessary to the working out of a national destiny, nor against the ruling dynasty. They simply ask that the affairs of the nation be freed from the changing caprices of individuals, the rapacity of a clique, and conducted by competent and honest men, independent of the corrupt and fluctuating influence of the imperial court.

Despite the unbroken record of railway disasters in the United States it remains true, as proved by the experience of accident insurance companies, that the safest place in the world is a railroad train. Not less than thirty persons were killed and many more than that injured in elevator accidents in New York city in the past year. No such proportion of the persons who traveled between New York and Chicago in the same period were even injured. It is capable of proof that within almost any section of the country more persons are accidentally killed in the day's work than in railway disasters. The explanation of this odd fact is, of course, that those places are most dangerous where danger is least expected and those safest where danger is so looked for and so probable that the mind of every man concerned is intent on avoiding and preventing accident.

Although John Bull is now a vehement apostle of arbitration, at least in closet policy, he is reorganizing the military forces of India on the basis of a $50,000,000 outlay. The troops will be concentrated at certain points to enable them to train together and co-operate in time of war. Since the great mutiny they have been quartered all over the country. Railroads and telegraphs have changed the situation, and in time of war troops can be quickly forwarded to any distant scene of disturbance.

The pioneer work of the Alaskan telegraph system recently completed was begun in 1865, before the Atlantic cable was laid. The projectors aimed to connect the new and old world by the Bering strait route. Cyrus Field's great achievement in 1868 dashed this enterprise to the ground. The new system is entirely on United States territory and comprises 2,127 miles of cable, 1,504 miles of land lines and 107 miles of wireless system.

The action of two Illinois convicts in appealing to the courts to see that the governor of their prison gives them plenty of hard labor, as decreed in their sentences, will hardly be indorsed by the amalgamated hobos.

INTERVIEWS WITH THE PEOPLE ON WATER WORKS QUESTION.

The third installment of interviews with Newark people on the water works proposition appears below. The fourth will appear tomorrow:

O. C. Larason.

I favor the city's building a new water plant, unless the Water Works company will sell its plant very cheap. I fear its plant is like an old broken down horse or worn-out vehicle; you could scarcely buy it worth the money. The sale of the bonds, it seems to me, was a necessity in the interest of the city.

Dr. C. P. King.

Inasmuch as our citizens have voted for new water works, no one should try to defeat their will by negotiating for the purchase of the Newark Water Works plant. This plant, in my opinion, has had its day; and as our city is growing very rapidly we would have to make numerous extensions to supply the wants of the people. I see no objections to the sale of the $200,000 bonds; neither do I see why any one should try to obstruct the building of a new plant. The world moves every day, and we ought to move with it.

A. R. Pitzer.

I would be in favor of making a new contract with the Water Works company to supply the city with water at a reasonable rate, or of purchasing its plant if it could be had at a reasonable price; but I don't believe the company is acting in good faith as it names no price at which it will sell its plant. And unless it makes a reasonable proposition for supplying the city with water, or names the price for which it will sell the plant at once, I think the city should proceed to build new works according to the vote of the people.

Perry Winters.

I am opposed to all further monkeying with the Water Works company, and believe the city should proceed to build a new plant without delay. What is the use of talking about the old plant until it is offered for sale at a definite price and a clear title guaranteed. Don't understand the legal points of the bond sale, but it was necessary for something to be done to get new water works before the city's contract with the old company expires.

R. L. Taneyhill (Lawyer).

I was very much pleased to see some strategy in the interest of the city. Heretofore all strategy has been on the part of the Water Works company's paid agents.

Geo. Johnson.

I am in favor of building a new plant according to the vote of the people. If the city should buy the old plant nobody knows how much it would cost to enlarge and improve it, so we had better build a new one. It is true the streets would be torn up in building a new plant, but no one can tell how much we would have to tear them up in putting the old plant in order. The sale of the bonds was a good thing; for how else could the mayor and other officials have carried out the will of the people?

Matt Riegger.

I am in favor of new water works by a large majority for that was the voice of the people. I don't believe in buying an old plant that is worth little or nothing and isn't big enough for our use besides. Better have our streets torn up a while than put ourselves under the control of the water company. The sale of the bonds was all right, as that seemed to be the only way to carry out the will of the people.

D. D. Dowden (E. &amp; O. Machinist).

I have always thought the city should purchase the old plant and enlarge and improve it—provided it can be had at a reasonable price. Not only

The unhealthy complexion of green sickness is changed to the rosy blush of good health by Scott's Emulsion.

Green sickness is one of the forms of blood disease found in young women. The change from girlhood to womanhood often upsets the nervous system, weakens digestion and throws the blood-making organs out of gear.

Scott's Emulsion puts new heart into pale girls. It tones up the nervous and digestive system, and feeds the blood. It is a natural tonic.

Remember that 30 per cent. of these cases go on into consumption unless prevented. Scott's Emulsion prevents consumption.

would the streets be badly torn up in building a new plant; but the pipes of the Water Works company are better at this time—because made of better iron—than any pipe that could be secured for a new plant.

Bernard Weibber (Machinist).

I want to see the city owning and operating its own water works, and without understanding the legal points involved, I approve the action of our officials in selling the $200,000 bonds. The idea of a city like Newark buying its water! I wouldn't purchase the plant of the Water Works company unless I wanted to sit at a junk shop.

Charles Opel (Glassblower).

I voted for new water works and still think we should construct a new plant, unless the Water Works company offers its plant at a very reasonable price and gives us a clear and undisputed title. I don't believe the city should parley with the company or delay the building of new works on its own account.

C. F. Davis.

We ought to have new water works unless we could get the old plant at a very low figure and with a perfectly clear title. Assuming that the city officials were entirely honest in selling the bonds, I believe they did right and that their action will be beneficial to the city. I believe the Water Works company wants to unload its plant on the city at a big price or force the city into another twenty years' contract on such terms as the company wishes to impose on us.

Charles Foster (Plumber).

Let us carry out the will of the people and build new water works. I consider the sale of the bonds all right, as it was in line with the vote of the people.

Chas. Luther.

Let the people have what they voted for—a new plant. Who would want to buy a worn out coat or pantaloons when he can get a new suit? Besides the Water Works company has never offered its plant for sale at a definite price. The sale of the bonds was all right, as we haven't time for any more foolishness, and we don't want to be held up by the Water Works company a day longer.

Dan. F. Gormley.

We want the new water works. In this great, growing city we want something that will give us plenty of pure water and adequate protection from fire. What does any man want to patch up an old worn-out coat for, if he has money enough to buy a new one. Nobody need be scared at all this talk about having two water systems in the city. Let the Water Works company walk the floor on that issue. If it chooses to continue in business at the old stand after the municipal plant is built, let it do it to its heart's content. The bond sale was the right move at the right time, the only proper course to pursue under all the circumstances.

John Mohlenpau.

I think the mayor and the other officials acted honestly in selling the bonds so as to secure the building of new water works, as that was what the people voted for. I can not understand why so many people want to buy the old plant when there is a heavy mortgage on it, and the company has never named the price for which it is willing to sell.

Arthur Banton.

Give us a new plant; give us a new plant; that is the way to carry out the will of the people. There has been a great improvement in water pumps as in everything else the last twenty years, and the city of Newark doesn't want to start a junk shop. The pipes of the Water Works company may be in good enough condition but that doesn't make them large enough for the purposes of a city like Newark. Who cares if we do have two water companies in the city? It wouldn't hurt anybody but the Newark Water Works company. The sale of the bonds meets my hearty approval, only it ought to have been done two years ago.

T. J. Heib.

I want new water works built without any more monkeying with the Water Works company. What's the use of all this talk about purchasing the old plant, when the company doesn't name the price for it. Manifestly it wants to beat municipal ownership if it can, and if it cannot do that, it wants to unload its worn-out plant on the city. The injunction suit against the sale of the bonds was the veriest farce and humbug, and was simply an effort of the Water Works company to thwart the will of the people. Of course I approve the sale of the bonds and commend the courage and promptness of the officials, who knew enough to get ahead of the Water Works company.

Ambrose Schaller.

I believe the mayor and the other officials were honest in selling the $200,000 bonds in the way they did, and that their action will be beneficial to the city. Something of the kind had to be done, or we would soon have been at the mercy of the Water Works company. Therefore I indorse their action and consider them faithful servants of the people.

Henry Sayre.

The people voted for new water works by a large majority and they ought to have what they voted for—and the sooner the better. Tearing up the streets to build new works is not a serious objection in my mind, as they would be torn up anyhow in the improvements that would have to be made to the old plant. If we should purchase it, I am not concerned about having two water plants in the city. If the Water Works company wants to continue in business after the city's plant is built, let it do so and get all the satisfaction out of it it can. Concerning the sale of the bonds they ought to have been sold two years ago.

John C. Berger.

I think we should purchase the old plant, if the company will name a reasonable price and give us a good title.

Major David Thomas.

I have been in favor of purchasing the old plant if it could be bought very low and a clear and undisputed title could be guaranteed; but since the company has never put a price on it or really offered it for sale, I think we should proceed to build the new works, for the sooner we get at it the better. The sale of the bonds meets my hearty approval, because the people voted to build new works, and we have little enough time to do it before our contract with the Water Works company expires.

W. H. Smith (Lumber Merchant).

I heartily approve the sale of the bonds, and think the officials are to be commended for their foresight and devotion to the interests of the city. I really think they saved money to the city; anyhow they placed us where we can act as we may wish without the consent of the Water Works company. If the Water Works company wants to run its plant after the city builds one I suppose that will be its privilege—let the company settle that question itself.

George W. Havens.

Unless the old water works plant could be had at a very low figure the city should proceed to build a new one instanter. Therefore I approve the sale of the $200,000 bonds by the mayor and other city officials.

David M. Black.

I am in favor of buying the old plant provided it can be had for what it is worth, and then let the city enlarge and improve it as the growth of the city demands. If the company wants to sell its plant, let it put a price on it, and if it asks too much let the city make an offer and if they cannot agree we will have to build a new one.

Fred Simpson (Soap Manufacturer).

I have thought if the old plant could be had low enough and put in good shape it might be well enough to buy it; but if the company wants to sell the plant, it certainly ought to put a price on it, so we can judge whether we want it or not.

Herman Elms (Grocer).

I believe the city should build and operate its own water works. If we purchase the old plant at any price whatever, saying nothing about the title, we are very liable to be duped.

John W. Lippincott.

I would favor buying the old plant if it can be had for what it is worth.

W. J. Shields, Jr.

Since the people voted for new water works I fully indorse the selling of the $200,000 bonds, and believe it was done to carry out the will and purpose of the people. Who wants to see the city held up by the Water Works company forever and a day? Mighty sure I don't.

A FEW REMARKS

On the Water Works Proposition by Milton R. Scott, Replying to Mr. Veach.

(Communicated.)

I would like to offer a few remarks in your columns in reference to the latter portion of the communication of Mr. Veach, which appeared in your columns yesterday.

Mr. Veach presents a very plausible reason—that is as plausible a one as could be framed—for the important fact that the Water Works company has declined to name the price at which it is willing to sell its plant to the city.

I might argue that we, the people of Newark, would be no wiser, or very little wiser, as to the value of the old water works to the city after it had been appraised by three experts than we now are; but this is not the point that I wish particularly to present.

Let me stir Mr. Veach's mind by way of remembrance by reciting the fact that at a regular municipal election held in the year of grace 1902, the people of Newark almost unanimously voted to build and operate a plant of their own; and the Water Works company, whether it realizes it or not—its up against this proposition. Now has it never occurred to Mr. Veach and the owners of the water works, that if they wish to change this vote, they must offer their plant to the city at such a price that the people will plainly see the advantage of purchasing it. In a word they should offer it at a price so low that the people will see a "bargain" in it; for verily the people have expressed no desire to purchase it at any price whatever, and they are under no obligations to purchase it at any price. See?

Would this not be much more business like than to come before the Council and ask to have a committee of three experts appointed to name the price which the city ought to pay for it?

In view of the people's emphatic vote for a new plant, I must consider the proposition made to the Council by the Water Works company exceedingly impertinent—so I will call it exceedingly impertinent! The owners of the Water Works company can hardly be classed among the people whom the Scripture says are "wise in their generation."

Shall I characterize the action of the Water Works company in inspiring injunctions against the building of a new plant as "innocent" also? Does any one suppose that the will of the people can be defeated by raising issues in our courts over the crossing of t's and the dotting of i's in public advertisements? If these injunctions suits are not an insult to the people, they certainly show a lack of proper respect for the people's will as expressed at the ballot box.

I have said that the people's vote brings the Water Works company up against a stubborn proposition, but it would have been more correct to say that this vote puts the company in a hole, and in my opinion, their only way out—if they want to get out—is the way I have suggested. At any rate the longer the policy of obstruction is pursued by the Water Works company the more confirmed the people will be that their vote was correct and the more determined they will be that their will shall prevail in the erection of a new plant.

Let me close by kindly advising the owners of the water works to get down their Latin dictionaries and study the meaning of the phrase, "SCOTT'S VOX DEI."

M. R. SCOTT.

TELEPHONE EXCHANGE

Still Growing and the Company Offers a Small Amount of Preferred Stock at Par.

The Newark Independent Telephone exchange is still growing. In the last two months 122 'phones have been installed. Within a year the subscriber list has grown from 1200 to over 1,800.

There remains a small amount of PREFERRED 6 PER CENT, NON-TAXABLE stock for sale at par. This stock is backed up by a very valuable plant which is earning over $1,600 a month net. Both the common and preferred stocks pay dividends. The company has more than 75 stockholders among the most conservative business men of Newark. For detailed information as to stockholders' earnings, expenses, etc., call upon Manager Hollander, at the exchange on North Third street. This proposition is worth investigating. Do not delay.

TROPHY

EMBLEMATIC OF STATE TARGET CHAMPIONSHIP

Was Won by Six Men From the Licking Gun Club at Dayton, on Wednesday.

The team of six men who went to Dayton and competed in the shoot for the championship trophy of Ohio, returned to Newark Wednesday night with the prize in their possession.

The Licking Gun Club thus gets the honor of having the championship six men team of Ohio. The score made by the Newark team was remarkable in view of the cold weather and high wind. Three teams competed, representing Cincinnati, Dayton and Newark. It might be added that the Cincinnati team had two professionals of national reputation.

Each man in the contest shot at 50 birds, a team score of 300 being possible. The Newark boys broke 267 birds, Dayton 233 and Cincinnati 206.

The Newark team scored as follows: Fisher 50 straight, Taylor 48, Hulshizer 36, Orr 43, Burrell 40, Goodrich 36.

The trophy is a silver cup with the following engraved on either side:

"Emblematic of the six men team target championship of Ohio."
"Championship cup presented by C. W. Phellis, Mechanicsburg, O., to teams of six men from the gun clubs of Ohio, July 1, 1900."

A photograph of the Newark team was taken in Dayton and will be published in the Sportsman's Review. The cup at present may be seen at the Burrell cafe on West Main street, but later will be exhibited with the photograph of the team.

BUSINESS MEN

You are about to close your books for the year of 1904. Whether the year has been a profitable one or not, you alone can tell. If it has not, let us make a suggestion at the beginning of the new year, set aside a certain portion of your funds for newspaper advertising. Now, no doubt you will say: "This is just what I expected."

Yes, it is just what every business man should do. Look around you at the men who have been and are now successful men. What has made them successful? You will probably say: "Oh! they are 'lucky' fellows," just as though "luck" had anything to do with it.

We will say right here, and we wish we could burn it into the brains of every business man of Newark, that luck has not a particle to do with a successful man, or a man who has made his business a successful one. It is through publicity that he has become successful. He has been able to grasp and did grasp the opportunities that were placed before him. He through publicity made the opportunity and seized it when it presented itself. Now this is one of your opportunities. Don't let it go until another year. Don't put it off. Do it now. It will take courage. Yes, a heaping measure full of courage. But once you start right you will not regret it, as J. P. Fleishman, a Printer's Ink, says: "Bad luck is unknown where courage holds sway." "Everything is possible to the man who says 'I will!'"

Now thin this over and do it seriously, too. And if The Advocate can be of any assistance we will gladly help you plan for the coming year and all through the year. Just call us by phone or drop us a card, and our solicitor will do all we can to help you make the coming year a profitable one for you.

AT UTICA

It is Alleged Davis Injured a Child.

Bound Over and Brought To Newark Jail.

WHEN MOTHER TESTIFIED

Mayor Harris Increased Bond to $2,000--Nicholas Hall's Daughter the Victim.

Utica, O., Dec. 29.—Charles Davis, aged 24, a son of George Davis, was bound over to the grand jury by Mayor H. E. Harris on Wednesday afternoon on the charge of attempting to criminally assault Grace Hall, the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Hall.

The crime is alleged to have been committed on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Hall conducts a bakery and restaurant, and Davis has been employed by him. Grace, of course, was around the store a good deal, and according to her story, she and Davis were alone there Tuesday afternoon. She told the Mayor that Davis at that time committed the crime.

His bond was fixed at $1,000, and he made a vain effort to find a bondsman. After hearing the testimony of the child's mother to the effect that she was badly injured, the bond was increased to $2,000.

Davis is a young married man and has one child, aged two years. One of the most reputable citizens of Utica said this morning that Mrs. Hall secured a livery rig at Vance's stable last night and drove about town and talked to a number of people suggesting that the prisoner not be allowed to go with the officer to Newark. No action was taken however, and the officer was allowed to leave town without any demonstration.

A report was telephoned from Newark today saying that Davis had said some uncomplimentary things about the Hall girl but it may be said here that the girl's reputation is first class. There has never been a breath of suspicion attached to her. The friends of the Hall family are indignant.

Davis Denies the Charge.

Marshall Vance arrived in Newark on B. & O. No. 16 Wednesday night, having in charge Charles Davis, charged with attempting to criminally assault Grace Hall, aged 14, at Utica. He was taken to the county jail and placed in a cell there. An Advocate reporter saw him and attempted to get a story of the occurrence, but a general denial of the charge was all that the prisoner would make.

RAILWAY RUMBLES

VANDALIA CONSOLIDATION SET FOR JANUARY FIRST.

Pennsylvania Company Declares Dividend—Paragraphs of Interest to Railway People

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 29.—Judge Anderson of the federal court dissolved the temporary injunction granted in the case of Edward H. Boner of New York against the Terre Haute and Indianapolis Railroad company, restraining the company from entering the proposed consolidation of the St. Louis, Vandalia and Terre Haute, the Indianapolis and Vincennes, the Terre Haute and Logansport and the Logansport and Toledo railroad companies. Now that the injunction is dissolved, the consolidation will be carried out as rapidly as possible, as the majority of the stockholders of the various roads concerned have voted in favor of the project. It is intended to effect the consolidation by Jan. 1. It will be known as the Vandalia Railroad company.

Pennsylvania's Dividend.

Santa Fe to Branch Out.

Austin, Tex., Dec. 29.—It is said that a part of $50,000,000 bonds to be issued by the Santa Fe railway will be used for the construction of important extensions of its system in Texas. Among other lines which it has planned to build is a connecting link between its Pecos Valley and Gulf of Colorado and Santa Fe system. The connection will be obtained by extending the San Angelo branch to a point on the Pecos Valley road.

WOMAN'S STRENUOUSNESS.

Too Busy With the Crowded Hour to Fear to Live or Die.—Emerson.

In Carlyle's "Past and Present" we have mention of "the strenuous life," a phrase which has been brought into current use by our president, and lately, through the same source, we have the phrase "the crowded hour." But long before these phrases came into common use there were women who lived lives so strenuous that some of them were not sorry when the time came to lie down and rest forever.

To many, many women, living only with the hope that some day things will be different, it seems as if life were all one "crowded hour," to be got through with somehow from day to day. Even when night comes and the tired body lies down to rest the busy brain is still at work, planning the duties of the next day or the next week or month, as the case may be, until sleep mercifully puts an end to its reaching out into the future to days that may never come.

For most women the first year after marriage is generally the most strenuous in all their existence. All that went to make life delightful during girlhood is being crowded out—must be put aside in this crowded hour—and the little bride wonders sadly why she is not as happy as she expected to be. There seems to be no time for piano practice, for the golf or tennis that she once enjoyed so much; the late books are literally closed books to her, and all the old favorites are left lying upon the shelf save when they need dusting. After a few years have passed she begins to realize that she has fallen far behind the rest of the world and is only competent to take her place with the rest of the matrons and discuss the three D's—dress, domestics and disease. She determines to "catch up" again and in the endeavor joins a club or two herself, and then life, strenuous as it may have been before, becomes far more so. She has not removed the first cause, but has added to it.

Then there is the woman who is always getting ready to be happy. It may be she is working hard to educate her children, pay for the home or furnish it in a "grand" manner, expecting some day to enjoy it all. That time will probably never come, for when she has accomplished her purpose other things to work for will open before her or she will have forgotten how to rest.

The only salvation for such lives is to pause right in the midst of "the crowded hour" and then decide what is most worth while. The true bohemian is one who knows how to wring pleasure from every passing moment. Whatever may be the enjoyment of the present moment—whether it is the pleasure he or she planned or wished for or some other bit of enjoyment—it is grasped and enjoyed to the utmost, and it would be a bit of wisdom on the part of all womankind if this same spirit of the true bohemian were cultivated for its worth.—Mary Taylor-Ross in New Idea Magazine.

Cabbage Salad Dressing.

Beat the yolks of three eggs, half a teaspoonful of mustard, mixed for the table, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Add two tablespoonfuls of butter, then gradually five tablespoonfuls of hot vinegar. Stir and cook over hot water until the mixture is thick and smooth. Just before using mix with crisp, fine shredded cabbage.

The Fatal Spare Room.

How many a cold is contracted in the spare bed. Look out for it during the cold weather. Open the windows and air it on a good windy day and let the sun shine upon it if possible. If company is expected thoroughly air and dry the bed and warm the room with an oil stove if there is no other means of heating.

Baked Sweetbreads.

Soak three large sweetbreads one hour in warm water, then simmer in boiling water ten minutes. Drain and carefully remove the skin. Brush over with beaten egg, dredge with bread-crumbs, dip in melted butter, place in a dripping pan and bake forty-five minutes. Serve on squares of toast with brown gravy.

A Plain but Tasteful Shirt Waist.

An eminently useful shirt is shown in the design. It is of dark brown delaine, pin spotted with white, its severity tastefully tempered by an inset line of lace down the center front, narrowly strapped with the delaine, and the whole completed by a cravat of brown silk and white lawn turnover collar.

A Pleasant Possibility.

A member of the faculty of the Columbian Medical college at Washington is particularly fond of taking his students unawares in his "quizzes."

To one student, whom it would not be uncharitable to call a dullard, the professor said one day:

"What quantity constitutes a dose of '—' giving the technical name of croton oil."

"A teaspoonful," was the answer.

The instructor made no comment, and the student soon realized that he had made a mistake. After a quarter of an hour had elapsed, he said:

"Professor, I should like to change my reply to that question."

"I'm afraid it's too late, Mr. Blank," responded the professor, looking at his watch. "Your patient has been dead fourteen minutes."—Collier's Weekly.

Yankee Pumpkin Pie.

YOU may talk about your foreign cooks and all the things they make. The thousand dainty dishes that they stew and boil and bake; You may prate about their wondrous skill in culinary arts. How deftly they can manufacture puddings, pies and tarts; You praise the French and German chefs and the Italians, too. For making salads, sauces, soups and fancy dishes new— But for a toothsome morsel upon which I can rely Just give me a solid wedge of Yankee pumpkin pie.

Let those of fashionable taste turn up the nose in pride And think their palate to be simply satisfied; Let them eat their pate de foie gras, their truffes and such stuff With foreign names, auspicious looks and odors rank enough; Let them eat those airy pastry puffs they think so very nice Because they've got outlandish names and cost a mighty price— But, say, to curb your appetite and your stomach satisfy There's nothing like a great big chunk of Yankee pumpkin pie.

Roast beef may have more nutriment, more body building worth; Veal, mutton, lamb be nourishing and stretching of your girth; Your chicken, duck or turkey may suit palates very fine. But these can take a back seat when I'm passing down the line. Fish, flesh and fowl may serve to stay the appetites of some, But you must treat me better when I to your table come. Leave out the high toned viands, let each dainty dish go by. If I can get my face fast in a piece of pumpkin pie.

FOR SOCIAL FUNCTIONS.

Frocks of the New Year's Dances. Wedding Gowns and Opera Hoods. Ball gowns for debutantes and the young dancing contingent in general are the most airy creations imaginable in tulle, silk and thread nets, both plain and dotted, as well as figured lace nets, point d'esprit, cheville dotted nets, spangled nets, etc. Besides the exquisite mousselines, painted, spotted, dotted and striped with silver and gold threads or with satin; lovely chiffons, embroidered rosebuds and other single GOWNS OF BRIDE AND MAID OF HONOR. flowers sprinkled delicately over the pure white surface. Mousselines in single colors are always in vogue, while the shades of colors this year seem lovelier than ever.

As a hint of the winter's smartness here is a fascinating precursor. This dancing gown is of white mousseline. The skirt is flounced in narrow ruffles. Each ruffle has a row of white net puffing, with ruffle as a finish on the bottom, with a border of narrow valencienne on the edge. There are twelve of these ruffles, the topmost three being a trifle narrower than the rest. The low bodice is draped in cross plaits both front and back. The sleeves are of the fine white net in two very full puffs, which stand out well from the sleeves and form a perfect short sleeve. A very narrow garland of pink roses and forget-me-nots edges the bodice and meets upon the left side in a moderate cluster of the same flowers, with two or three small roses and a little delicate foliage. Girlish and bewitching is this crisp, light, graceful gown.

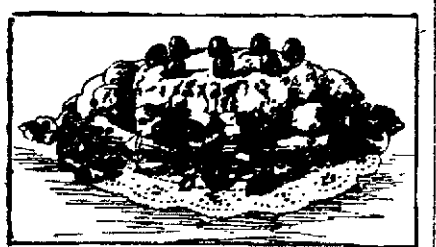

The maid of honor gown shown in the cut is of changeable amber satin messaline with a yoke of Irish crochet lace and point applique. The foundation is lemon taffeta veiled with mousseline de soie. The skirt is circular and slightly trained. Heavy white satin with yoke and sleeve ruffles of point d'alencen lace, velvet buttons and clusters of orange blossoms compose the bride's gown.

Nothing heretofore designed can compare with the exquisite perfection of the latest confection in opera hoods. Imagine a flimsy cloud of lace over mousseline under which the intricacies of hairdressing are lost to view while the face peers out of a cluster of flowers. Besides there are two long lace scarfs lined with mousseline which hang like floating vapor to add to the beauty of this headpiece, for that it is in reality is, though a protection from winter winds when once the wearer is out of a heated opera house.

Opera cloaks are gorgeous affairs, most of them heavy with antique laces, while others are trimmed with light touches of sable. The majority are regal in their glittering sleen of gold embroidery, while every cloak may boast of its sumptuous brocades.—Vogue.

Turkey Loaf.

For a second dinner dish we chop the meat that remains on the roast turkey, season well with salt and pepper, add a cupful of soft breadcrumbs to the quart and sufficient beaten egg to make it hold together. Mold this into a loaf or pack in a greased mold, cover the top with thin slices of salt pork and bake or steam until firm. In serving garnish with olives and some of the dressing molded in small balls.—Table Talk.

Pork Chops and Fried Apple.

Season pork chops with salt, pepper and a little powdered sage. Dip them first in beaten egg, then into fine breadcrumbs and fry them until well done. Pare some apples and cut them into slices crosswise, so that the core comes in the center of each slice. Pour part of the pork fat out from the pan, only leaving enough to fry the apples. When the slices have browned nicely on one side turn them carefully to cook the other side as well. Serve them on the platter with the chops.

OUR NATIONAL ANTHEM

Why Sir Howard Vincent Would Omit Third Verse.

SAYS ITS WORDS BREED ILL WILL

British Member of Parliament Thinks Such Modification of "The Star Spangled Banner" Would Tend to Peace Between America and England—Views of Naval Officers Who Approve Suggested Omission.

Sir Howard Vincent, member of the English parliament, while in Paris recently, sent to the editor of the New York Herald the following letter:

You ask me for a Christmas idea of peace and good will between America and England. One occurs to me. It is easy of accomplishment, if only the universities, colleges and schools of profound learning and religious education will show the way to quote "The Star Spangled Banner."

I admit that the circumstances under which young Key wrote it on that dark September night of Baltimore ninety years ago justified strong language, but other times, other circumstances and other thoughts prevail today.

Happily there is nothing but peace and good will between England and America. Every English man or woman looks on an American man or woman as a brother or sister. Why, then, retain and teach young America to sing the third verse of that otherwise fine song, "The Star Spangled Banner?" It runs:

And where is that band which so vauntingly swore That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion A home and a country should leave us no more?

Their blood has washed out their foul footsteps' pollution. No refuge could save the hireling and slave From the terror of flight or the gloom of the grave. And the star spangled banner in triumph doth wave O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

The words are certainly inapplicable and out of date, keep old sores needlessly running and breed ill will and distrust in young America.

The full text of "God Save the King" is rarely, if ever, sung. It is needlessly offensive and out of date. Let teaching America leave out the third verse of "The Star Spangled Banner." Then we shall sing in more heartfelt chorus:

Oh, say that the star spangled banner shall wave O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

In conjunction with the above letter the aforementioned paper prints the following:

Army and navy officials and others prominent in the administration who were seen at Washington in regard to Sir Howard Vincent's suggestion as to the omission of the third verse of "The Star Spangled Banner" for the most part approved the idea.

The older naval officers, who have had considerable experience abroad, state that it is the custom to omit this verse when singing the national anthem whenever Englishmen are present. The verse is so plainly and offensively directed at the English nation that an unwritten law has made it a custom to skip it and jump to some of the later verses after singing the first and second. The consensus of opinion is that the song would not be harmed in the least if the verse were dropped and the action would do away with the possibility of embarrassing situations which might arise.

A considerable majority of army and navy officers and even government officials, when told of Sir Howard Vincent's suggestion, acknowledged that they had no idea what the third verse of the national anthem was. When the words were read to them they stated that they did not see the need of retaining the verse in the song, since it was of a nature that belonged to a former age, surrounded by entirely different conditions from those existing today. The ignorance of most of the government officials in regard to the words of the verse was somewhat astonishing and indicated how frequently the stanza is omitted when the hymn is sung.

While the majority were inclined to approve the suggestion to drop the verse entirely, stating that the action itself would be appreciated by the English people and serve to strengthen the bond between the nations, others more conservative thought that it would do no harm to leave the verse in and continue the custom of omitting it when the song is sung.

Some of the older naval officers stated that they never had any difficulty in omitting the verse, and they expressed the fear that a movement to erase it forever from the song might meet with some opposition from the people in general, who would sentimentally object to having any change made in a song written under the circumstances that inspired "The Star Spangled Banner" and who would not fully realize that the words were embarrassing and out of date on many occasions.

Russian Recruits.

Russia is gathering her recruits abroad as well as at home. As an instance a German newspaper mentions the conscription of Albrecht von Ummann, who is an opera singer at Nuremberg. He is thirty-three years old and married.

The heat in the part of the Simpler tunnel which remains to be dug is so great that men can work only half an hour at a time, so that what has heretofore been a day's work now takes a fortnight.

PRESIDENT'S POLICE GUARD.

Greater Precautions Than Ever to Protect Mr. Roosevelt in Public.

The detail of police at the White House has been increased, and new precautions are being taken to protect President Roosevelt as he starts out on his regular afternoon drive, says a Washington special dispatch to the New York World. A bicycle policeman has been added to the regular squad. He does nothing but ride up and down the block in front of the White House. He is there ostensibly to keep traffic moving and prevent the gathering of crowds which might interfere with the president's departure. He rides slowly and keeps a close watch on passing pedestrians and carriages.

The president always leaves the White House by his outing in the country between 4:30 and 4:45. He rides, usually in an open carriage, to the suburbs, where he either mounts his horse, which is waiting for him, or begins his walk.

As soon as the carriage enters the grounds the White House sergeant and two of his men take up their position at the west gate, through which the president leaves under the new rule. They are joined by the bicycle policeman stationed in front of the White House, and they all stay at the gate until the president drives out. Two policemen, two secret service men and the two bicycle policemen who always follow close behind the president when he drives out are on guard at the front door of the White House when Mr. Roosevelt enters his carriage.

No reason is assigned for the new precautions. The police intimate that the order came from the White House, and at the White House it is said that the responsibility is with the police. The only effect of the guard at the gate is to draw a crowd which never assembled there before, as it was not known when the president would leave or by which gate. Now the appearance of the sergeant and three policemen is a signal that the president is coming, and a crowd quickly gathers to wait for him.

The new arrangement makes the protection of the president about as complete as it would be without constantly surrounding him with a troop of cavalry. When he leaves his carriage to go riding, a mounted orderly, who is the crack shot of the army, is close behind him all the time. If he walks, a secret service man is at his heels.

WHY THE MIKADO IS POPULAR

Japanese Worship Him Because They Think He Is Divine.

Japan is the land of mystic and surprise for a foreign visitor, and at no other time would the feeling of mystery and surprise be greater than when he witnesses the enthusiastic greeting of the people on seeing the august "drag-on carriage" of the emperor in the streets of Tokyo, says Hosmer Whitefield in the January Success Magazine. He would exclaim in wonder, "Is there another monarch on this globe as universally honored and beloved by his people as is the emperor of Japan?" The patriotism and loyalty of the Japanese are at once inspired by his face, and patriotism and loyalty is the chief source of Japanese strength. The happy cry of "Banzai!" ("Ten thousand years of life to the emperor!") will follow the imperial train like wave after wave of a roaring ocean.

How handsome the emperor appears in his great costume! What a tender beam in his eyes! What a profound joy it is to the people when he turns to them giving a most cordial military salute! The Japanese are universally said to be a small people in stature, but look at the emperor! He will vindicate them in this respect. He is slightly less than six feet—five feet and eight inches, to be particular—and he weighs 225 pounds.

The emperor is firmly believed—not merely supposed—to be the son of God, since the first emperor, Jimmu, his forefathers came down from the heavens. Mutsuhito is the one hundred and twenty-second sovereign. A single thought of the emperor in old days inspired little but awe and reverence. It used to be "Shintai ore!" ("Down on your knees!") to the worshiping subjects who fell prostrate on the bare ground as his palanquin passed by. But how near is the august emperor of the Japan of today to the hearts of his people? To them he is the son of God and, more than that, he is a Japanese, through and through. They worship him because they think he is divine. They love him because they know he is human.

American Astronomy.

An Oxford university astronomer who made a journey of exploration last summer through the American observatories writes: "But already we have seen and heard enough to recognize that the chief additions to our knowledge of astronomy in the near future will be made in the United States." In commenting, says the New York Globe, on the latest astronomical achievements in the United States he mentions especially Professor W. H. Pickering's rediscovery of the ninth satellite of Saturn, Phoebe, which he first located some years ago by means of photography and the remarkable series of star photographs in which "each part of the sky is represented a hundred times over. There is the history of the sky for the last decade, and there it will accumulate for decades—may, centuries—to come." The numerous discoveries of variable stars made by the Harvard observers (several hundred now being enumerated) also excite his wonder and admiration.

Boston's Subaqueous Corridor.

Boston has already devised, says the Globe of that city, a fitting appellation for the new East Boston tunnel. It is "the subaqueous corridor."

The Land of Didn't-Mean-To.

I CAN'T see why it is that when I do things which I didn't mean to—when I break my sister's arm or throw a snow-ball through a window pane or tear my cloak or make my parents mad some other way. They won't believe me when I say I didn't mean to.

In school, when I upset my ink or hold my pencil so when some one turns their face. They'll get a punch beside the nose, I'm told.

That I'm a little savage and disgrace. And when school's out I have to stay—They don't believe me when I say I didn't mean to.

Once when I got on a razor and tried to shave my brother and cut through his ear. And there was blood all over and he cried. They hammered me to death—or pretty near!

They never even stopped that day To let me have a chance to say I didn't mean to.

Last night, when I upset the lamp because I'd climb up on the table and it tipped, I hardly could remember where I was. When he got through with me, I wish he'd got whipped.

The way he laid it on, some day, Before he had a chance to say He didn't mean to.

I hope that when I'm dead and get my wings And go to be an angel in the sky. They'll hang him on a high-shin' thing. He didn't know would happen. When I die.

I don't care where I go if they Will stop and listen when you say You didn't mean to. —Chicago Record-Herald.

Language Deficient.

"Ya-as, I can make meself understood in French, dontcherknow?" "Really! The English language is awfully deficient, isn't it?"

Willie Warned His Deposits. Rogers has a small grandson, of whom he is very fond. The boy one day last week espied in a toy shop a savings bank in the form of a rooster, gayly painted in yellow and red. He asked for and obtained from his grandfather the coveted toy. Before dropping his pennies in the slot made to receive them in the back of the toy he examined it critically and inquired:

"Do the pennies go straight into the rooster's stomach?"

His nurse replied, "I think they do."

Willie had a lively remembrance of an inadvertent spoonful of ice cream which he had once swallowed too hastily. A fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind. So he said:

"They're so cold! I'll warn them first before I drop them in." Which he proceeded to do. His grandfather upon hearing of the boy's solicitude for the comfort of the rooster was highly amused and said to him:

"I do not know of another bank, Willie, whose digestion would be disturbed by any amount of cold cash deposited in it."—New York Press.

Pleasant Theory.

"I think I'll try filling the tires of my automobile with illuminating gas," said the amateur chauffeur.

"Good joke," gurgled his fool friend. "Expect to make it light. Ha, ha!"

"Nothing of the kind," rejoined the amateur chauffeur. "I thought it might increase the speed of the machine. Just think how the stuff makes the wheels of a gas meter spin around."—Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

Independence.

"The American hen is a great bird," remarked the attitude of the agricultural department.

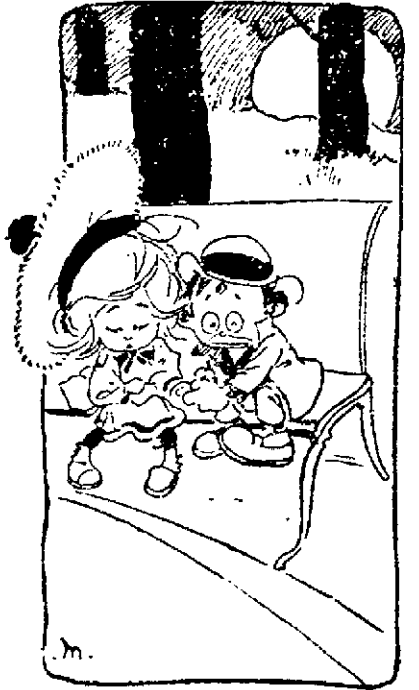

"Yes," answered the sportsman, "and what I especially admire about the hen is that she doesn't need any assistance or protection from the game laws."—Washington Star.

Forced to It.

Neighbor—I hear you are doing your own work.

Mrs. Portleigh—Yes. I tried living the simple life for awhile, and I got so far sitting around doing nothing that I had to start in working to reduce my flesh.—Detroit Free Press.

One Warm Spot.

She—Ah, Clarence, tell me that your heart will never grow cold. He—Well, I've fingers and a few toes. I'm frost-bit, but I guess my heart's still O. K.—New York American.

A little over 21 months ago a Home at 239 Woods avenue was opened in Newark for fallen girls, a home where any poor mother's daughter tired of her life of sin, might come and find refuge from her haunts of vice. The doors have never been closed day or night (except in one case) against any girl seeking admission. The case I speak of had been there twice, and she was such a morphine fiend, that it was not safe to take her in. We have cared for maternity cases, until they were able to care for themselves and their little one, or else found a good home for the child when the mother did not want that her sin should find her out.

We have averaged a girl a month since the opening, and we feel glad to know that it is better than the case of old, "Where there's no cure, but where there's a cure." We feel safe in saying one-fourth of those whom we have tried to help, are leading pure lives today. Praise the Lord for that! Two maternity cases gave evidence of a change of heart. One is a soldier in the Salvation Army in Kansas. Another is in Pennsylvania, out at service, and has been the means (so she wrote a few days ago) of the salvation of her father. Another is still with us, but expects to go to another home January 2, and seems to have the one end in view, viz: the salvation of souls. When this one leaves, we will then have only one inmate and her little boy. We take this opportunity of letting the public know that we are anxious to get this little toy in some Christian home, where he will be taught in the way of righteousness. He is a bright little fellow and would bring cheer to any childless home. The mother is willing to give him up.

Our girls are taught to be useful. But above all they have the Christian training from the time they enter. Our matron, sister Crauer, is an earnest, consecrated woman, and we are fortunate in having her with us. Licking county has done well in supporting this Home since it was opened. We have depended upon the free will offering of the people. Our pledges have ranged from 10 cents per month up to $5.00 per month. We pay a collector 5 per cent for collecting this money. It costs between $35 and $40 per month to run this home, and I assure you the strictest economy has been used in order to make that amount do. Our pledges are now out, and if the people of Newark and Licking county want this work to continue, we appeal to you in the name of Him who said to Let:

FOR VOTE ON WATER WORKS

Councilman from Third Ward Tells Why City Needs a New Water System.

(By Joseph R. Moser.)

In view of the fact that the American Tribune has been fit to degrade the functions of a newspaper by criticizing the honest actions of some public officials in the matter of the recent bond sale in which I myself am concerned, I would have the public and my friends know that I have no apology to offer for my conduct and that as a public servant I did my duty.

The so-called Star Chamber proceedings of the "Big Five" were not only justified by circumstances, but were legal in every particular, notwithstanding the very learned opinions given by the counsel for the Water Works company, whose opinions have been adopted by the American Tribune as a basis for the most uncalled for and vicious attack ever made upon city officials in Newark, and in spite of the fact that Mr. Dickinson "The Taxpayer" and owner of the American Tribune expressed himself in favor of the actions of the "Big Five" the morning after the last council meeting to several citizens of Newark.

We would like to know whether or not Mr. Dickinson has anything to say about the policy of the American Tribune, or whether or not his managing editor has control of his intelligence and conscience to such an extent that he would allow him to use his paper for the purpose of criticizing the conduct of men who are working honestly and faithfully for the interest of the taxpayers of Newark.

Does Mr. Dickinson, or the man guiding his paper's policy, think that he or they can serve the interests of the taxpayers of this city by criticizing the acts which ninety-nine per cent of the taxpayers of Newark think were proper?

The idea that those bonds were sold in secret is too utterly foolish to receive support from any authority, unless it be from the Water Works company and persons interested in its success. The bonds were sold by a committee who had full authority in law to sell them. Every member of the committee was legally notified of the time and place of the meeting. The law does not contemplate public notices of the committee meetings, and what notice it did require was given. The meeting was not held behind barred doors nor was it private to any one. So all the tawdry rot to the Tribune about "Star Chamber" business was a fiction of the imagination of the man who wrote it.

I did not have to be coaxed, nor did any man at that meeting have to be coaxed.

Our positions as public servants demanded that the Water Works company needed heroic treatment, and that the time had arrived to administer it. That our actions were legal I leave it to the law to vindicate, and trust that people will not be misled by the very learned opinions of the lawyers who are being paid to write them.

The citizens of Newark VOTED FOR MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP OF WATER WORKS, and as a public official it is my duty to carry out their wishes. As a mechanic and a taxpayer, it is clear to me that we need a new water works system.

At the recent fire at the Wehrle Company plant, the necessity for a new water works was overwhelmingly apparent. Twenty years ago the Water Works company installed a system for a village to which they have been adding year by year without increasing the size of their mains.

Now, Mr. Veach, Mr. Dickinson and others intrusted in the success of the Water Works company, do you think the people of Newark are deaf, dumb, blind, and devoid of intelligence, and that the Water Works company has a corner on intelligence and very learned legal opinions, so much so that we who see the necessity of accomplishing the will of the people must be misled in the scurrilous manner you have been doing? Is the will of the people of the city of Newark of such little consequence to the American Tribune that it can afford to be the exponent of the Water Works company and the prejudiced views of its attorneys?

I am interested in this matter as a taxpayer, citizen and an official of the city. The security of our manufacturing plants demand the protection of an up to date reliable water works system, and the service of village water works, and that twenty years old, by no means affords the protection we must have in order to protect them against serious loss by fire.

One very practical demonstration of the Wehrle company fire, demonstrated to me beyond the shadow of a doubt that if the city of Newark desires to keep its factories they must have new water works, for, under the present system, factories are at the mercy of fire.

I stood in that factory the night of the fire and held a nozzle and the water from it would not run out over these feet, and did everything possible to save that property.

That fire cost the laboring men and mechanics of the city of Newark nearly $100,000 in wages, which could have been saved had our water works system been what it should be.

Our water works system is powerless against a fire that gets a start. That has been demonstrated so often that it is a wonder to me that a paper like the American Tribune, the Mouthpiece of Reform in Newark, would overlook it while advocating an investigation of the city officers who have no fear of their bluff.

It is said that more money could have been realized from the sale of the bonds. I doubt it very much. We made the best sale of bonds ever made in the city of Newark, notwithstanding Judge Jones' opinion to the contrary. He attempted to show that such was not the case, and in conclusion stated that it might make some difference. If Judge Jones does not know whether it makes any difference or not, let him consult some of the bankers in this city before he makes statements to the contrary. Say that ten thousand dollars more could have been realized on those bonds. Can any one estimate how much has been saved by their sale? Do the people of Newark realize that the city must begin work on the new plant this spring in order to complete the same before the expiration of their contract with the Water Works company? Do they know that they must have the money in the treasury before they can let a contract?

The plan of campaign of the Water Works company is only too apparent to read mention. DELAY is their watchword. HOLD THE CITY UP BY INJUNCTIONS; go from one court to another; until it is TOO LATE for the city to do anything but buy the plant of the Water Works company, or make the city enter into a new contract for water.

This phase of the matter has not yet reached the sanctum of the American Tribune, although nine-tenths of the people of Newark can see it very clearly.

It is astonishing how dumb some people can be, when it suits them.

This is not a political question, in spite of the fact that the American Tribune announces my name for Mayor, and that paper by making it such, only belittles itself in the estimation of people who almost unanimously voted for new water works.

Their efforts to blacken the reputation of the "Big Five" do not seem to have made much of an impression on the Republican city officers, who not only endorse the action of the "Big Five," but who have the highest respect for their honesty and integrity.

The people only too well remember that a short time ago the Natural Gas and Fuel company raised the price of gas, and the consequent abuse that was heaped upon the councilmen who gave them their franchise. If the city officials who brought about that sale of bonds had quietly folded their arms and let the Water Works company hold up the city until it obtained what it wanted, there would be some occasion for abusing the city officials who neglected their duty for my part. When I am assured by the greater majority of the people in the city, irrespective of politics, that I have done right, and my conscience tells me that I have done right, I am willing to take all the abuse that the American Tribune can offer.

No one knows but Mr. Veach what a hard time he had in convincing a "taxpayer" that he ought to join in the sale of those bonds, and how it was that he reconciled Charles Vadaikin and Jesse Flory is yet a mystery to the people acquainted with the Locust street improvement.

Nor has it been explained to me why Jesse Flory brought that injunction when he told Mr. Veach in the presence of others that if the city would pay more than $100,000 for the Water Works company that he could get fifty people in Newark to enjoin it, and that if necessary he would enjoin it himself.

Now, Mr. Flory, the mere fact that you have been retained as attorney for the Water Works company has not added any appreciable value to its plant, has it?

As a taxpayer, your idea seems to correspond with almost all the taxpayers in the city, but we have not heard from you whether or not your idea as an attorney has suffered any appreciation by your retention as an attorney in this matter.

If you have a proposition of $100,000 to make, why not make it, and end this controversy?

That you have not made it, leads me to think that you have changed your mind on the subject, and that your employment by the Water Works company has enhanced its value.

In regard to Mr. Veach's statement that he is the only authorized agent of the Water company in this city, we will admit that. I might say that the Water company probably has authorized agents outside of Newark, and that I MYSELF WAS OFFERED $500.00 by a man who was seen in Mr. Veach's office, to vote on a certain proposition in the interest of the Water company, and that there were other councilmen seen by the same gentleman.

When these things are considered in the light of the facts, the people of Newark can well be pleased with the action of the "Big Five."

Time and the court's vindication will justify it, so that even the American Tribune will have to be pleased.

In conclusion, I would ask that the American Tribune would suggest to the investigating committee, as a preliminary to its investigation of city officers, that they inquire into the bond of attachment between it and the Water Works company.
